

Two Rivers Correctional Institution

Two Rivers Correctional Institution lies on the outskirts of Umatilla, Oregon in rural Eastern Oregon. The area neighbors the mighty Columbia River, and is short drive from the impressive Blue Mountains. Umatilla County offers many activities for you and your family to experience and enjoy. Warmer months bring farmer's markets, movies in the park, and sports tournaments. Summertime is a season all its own, with boating, fishing, Farm City Pro Rodeo and Pendleton Roundup, plus county fairs and the increasingly popular Pendleton Whiskey Fest. Not to be outshined, you can enjoy crisp winter days ice-skating or sledding, or trek up to the mountains for a snow machining excursion.

Umatilla's convenient location is a central point between Boise, Portland, and Seattle, so when you want big city excitement, you don't have to travel far, and Tri-Cities airport is 30 minutes from Umatilla if you wish to fly to your destination. Whether you prefer the hum of the city or breeze of the country, come on over to Eastern Oregon and discover the boundless splendor of the region's outdoor playground, just waiting for you.

Eastern Oregon is comprised of many sightseeing destinations. You will find roads and trails to explore, rivers and lakes to enjoy, and many family-friendly camping areas close by. Umatilla County continues to grow, but if urban is more your style, the Tri-Cities (Kennewick, Pasco, Richland), Washington is a short 30-minute commute from Umatilla and offers a great deal of indoor and outdoor entertainment, museums, fine food establishments, and wineries.
